

for torts come off injuries.
Above all, surfing became an activity where I could experience times of joy with his friends.

Changes I don't think I'll ever get tired of it.
At the deep breaths of the ocean, it's like breathing.

the wind blowing, the salty air blowing at our face Hairs flying. I like the feeling when the wind blows our hair, feels like a model that is going to be walked. Walking down the runway. Immense pressure the wind blowing against us. The wind is like a constant force. It's like a sunset the energy relaxing us down. The sun setting and the clouds covering up all the sand of the ocean what a Beach is designed to be. The water is smooth like silk. Walking the sand. Sun, sand, and the water. Our body is like a statue, our hands are like statues when we move them. Our body is like a statue.

WMM

Laura

Laura

Beginning Surfing

protecting your back but actually working on where to wave or stand over, you can eat it.

It feels weak like 20 pound dumbbell are around shoulder from far away. I will have to work on my swimming.

© York University Laura YM

In my mind it was the strongest sort of courage, far from a heroic deed but I overcame it with my anxieties for an adrenalin rush and stuck to the old board memories.

© York University Laura YM

Thank you

© York University

- the soft sand would pull my feet up each step

- the silence, the tranquility

- the ~~the~~ breeze

- out in the ocean you feel alive. You watch the vast ocean, Beachfront, nature sea, ~~feel~~ in the water you feel sometimes you forget you are linked on Earth, the shape of the ocean, the roundness.

© York University

© York University

Fiberglass surfboard

- the white water breaking

- the sound of the school of seagull chasing paddle as hard as I could but progressed nowhere. I did not go surfing is a weekend activity further in the ocean.

takes no fear in me

© York University © York University

the art of riding a board usually girls would look sexy coming out of the waves, with their hair ~~all~~ wavy straight. I on the other hand was the total opposite

I came out of the water looking like a crazy lady. My hair looks like a caterpillar.